Dating Old Photographs

Speaker: Sandra Harris

Many of us are in possession of drawers or boxes of wonderful old photographs. Some of these photos may even be labeled! But what about those ancestors who beckon to us without a label of identification?

Photographs hold clues that will help us identify when the picture was taken; thus, dating photographs by examining clothing, hairstyles, props, and hats can lead us to possible identifications within our family.

Please join us as we delve into the process of dating photographs. Sandra Harris, our speaker, does copy and restoration work on photographs and, in turn, will share with us many tips on dating photographs. Her presentation will be both educational and entertaining.
