FIND A GRAVE

for Searching & Creating Memorial Pages

Speaker: Marian Kile

Cemeteries are one of the most valuable resources for family history research. FindAGrave.com is a commercial website that provides free access to the largest online database of cemetery and grave sites from around the world. It currently lists more than 159 million burial records and is accessed by 50,000 people a day. Many of the records include photographs of the headstone, cemetery, or the individual. Marian will show us how to both search their records and how to create memorial pages for our ancestors.

Popular returning speaker Marian Kile got "hooked" on genealogy in 2005, and she's been sharing what she's learned ever since. She gives classes at the Sacramento FamilySearch Library and throughout the community. Marian is an experienced presenter who creates a supportive learning environment for her talks.
